

PACKING HOUSE BURNED

Plant of the Anglo-American Provision Company.

THE ORIGIN OF THE FIRE UNKNOWN.

Ninety Thousand Hogs Consumed by the Flames—Thirty-Two Tanks of Lard Exploded One After Another—The Loss, Which is Over Half a Million, Fully Covered by Insurance—A Peoria, Ill., Church in Ruins.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Three buildings of the great plant of the Anglo-American Provision company at the stock yards—the packing house and ware houses E, F and B—were destroyed by fire Sunday morning early, the flames not being entirely subdued until noon Sunday. The sides of the buildings the following property was destroyed: Nine thousand dressed hogs, 200,000 pounds of sausage and the product of 90,000 porkers. The plant was only recently purchased by an English syndicate, and was running with a force of 1,300 hands, all of whom are now idle as winter is coming on. The loss is estimated at $750,000, being divided as follows: $50,000 on sales, hams, and shoulders; $50,000 on dressed hogs; $100,000 on machinery, and $550,000 on buildings.

The loss is entirely covered by insurance. H. J. Straight & Co., 150 La Salle street, say the entire amount is placed in foreign companies. The plant was insured at $1,500,000.

The First Alarm.

The conflagration was one of the fiercest the fire department ever had to battle with. No one seems to know how the blaze started, but Mr. Fowler does not believe it was of incendiary origin. The flames first discovered at 1:30 o'clock in the engine-room of the packing house. The first alarm was turned in by Sam Shapiro, a boy employed during the night as a driver. When he saw the whole interior of the packing and engine rooms was in a blaze. He ran to No. 12, at Fowler's engine and Transit street, and pulled the bell. As soon as the firemen arrived on the scene a "411" alarm was turned in, calling out nineteen engines. A little later a special call was made for seven more engines, and a sixty-six engine soon threw a stream of water on the blazing buildings.

Explosions of Lard Tanks.

The firemen worked against obstacles from the start. Water had little effect on the greasy soaked floors, and the fire soon reached the tank room, where thirty-two tanks of lard were located. These exploded one after another with loud reports and the boiling lard burned fiercely. The heat was so intense the firemen were compelled to work at a distance. The packing house is about 200 feet long, and the whole interior was blazing when the firemen reached the scene in response to the first alarm. The flames spread to the cool room adjoining and commenced burning the carcasses of the hogs hanging there. In the room were 600 hogs, and they burned like oil. Water was useless in fighting the fire, and it seemed that nothing could be done to stop the conflagration. The roof fell in about an hour after the fire started and the conflagration became more furious. The lighted beams of the roof and rendered everything brighter than day. Scores of firemen directed a hundred streams of water into the burning acres of lard and meat, but with little effect.

Burning of Salt Meats.

The west wall of the packing house fell soon after the roof went down. On a switch beside the building were three freight cars, and the falling bricks crushed them. No other wall fell, but two are now in a dangerous condition. In the basement of the building was stored an immense amount of salt. The fire caught fire, and while the flames were not furious and were prevented from blazing high they destroyed the sides, shoulders, and hams stored layer on layer. The roof and floors covered the smoldering meats and kept water from reaching them, and the firemen were busy with the tanks, axes and banners in removing the masses of debris that hindered their work. The building that burned is a part of the plant that was recently erected. The entire series of buildings was under one roof and surrounded by a high wall. The lights were at a distance, and a few policemen were able to keep every one out. Thousands went to the scene during the day, but they could see nothing and did not linger long.

Will Resume Operations Tuesday.

At 11 o'clock Monday morning the fire at Fowler Bros. packing establishment was entirely out, and there was left a mass of smoldering ruins, the stench from which does not rise to the heavens, but hangs in the atmosphere, offensive to the nostrils. But two fire companies were working upon the ruins to subvert any lingering blaze that might start out afresh, while a large force of men are engaged in clearing away the debris, so that the work of rebuilding may start at once. Fowler Bros. have engaged the packing house of S. W. Allison and will commence operations Tuesday morning with 2,000 hogs on hand. The force of men to be immediately employed upon the work is not as yet determined upon, but as soon as the new plant can be completed the old force of employees will be retained. No paper has correctly stated the loss, which will be slightly under $500,000. This information is obtained from the fire insurance patrol, and while their report is not entirely complete it is sufficiently so to make a conservative estimate. Fowler Bros. state that their new establishment will be as perfect as money can secure and the old plans will be modified and enlarged upon. Work will be expedited as much as possible, and while no date is stated when opening will be completed the time will not be far in the future.

FLAMES IN A CHURCH.

Fire Destroys the Grace Presbyterian Edifice at Peoria, Ill.

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 29.—At 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning the Grace Presbyterian church on Madison avenue was burned to the ground. The edifice was filled with people, and the first warning they had of impending danger was the falling of a portion of the roof. The fire had caught in the loft from the furnace fire and had gained good headway before it was discovered. When the flames were noticed great consternation prevailed and there rushed over each other in their frantic endeavors to escape, and men, women and children jumped from the high win-down and were carried away by outsiders who had arrived.

All the fire engines in the city were called out but the church and its contents were totally destroyed. The building was a large frame structure, erected about seven years ago at a cost of $6,000. The organ, carpets, and furnishings increased its value to $10,000, on which there was an insurance of $7,750 in five companies. Fortunately no one was seriously injured in the mad rush. The fire spread to residences near by, but these were saved.

A Bonfire of Whisky.

MADISON, Ill., Sept. 29.—The old stone ware house of the Richwood distillery, situated in Kentucky, opposite this city, was destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon. The house contained 1,500 barrels of tax-paid whisky, all of which was destroyed. The property and whisky belonged to Levy & Brother, of Cincinnati. The fire department of Madison crossed the river and started in saving the whisky. The fire was a burning house which contained over 7,000 barrels of whisky. The fire originated in the brick yard and was communicated to the ware house by high winds prevailing at the time.

RESCUE OF THREE GIRLS

On Their Way to Become Members of a Disreputable House.

THOR, N. Y., Sept. 29.—F. F. Donovan, a member of the state board of arbitration, was lounging about the New York Central depot Sunday morning, waiting for a train, when his attention was attracted by the suspicious actions of a fashionably dressed woman, who was accompanied by three girls. He watched them closely, and was satisfied that something was wrong. In a little while he had seen the woman buy tickets for Albany, and then for New York. Then he questioned people about the depot, and learned enough to satisfy him that it was his duty to notify the police.

On Their Way to New York.

Mr. Donovan saw for an actor, and the woman who gave her name as Eva Lee, was taken to the police station with the three girls. A little investigation disclosed the fact that the girls, who were Carrie Ann Kittle Campbell, sisters, and Mamie Osborne, the latter only 16 years old, were on their way to New York to become inmates of a disreputable house. The woman and girls were locked up. Each of the three girls has a good home in this city, and their parents are respectable people. They seemed quite pleased that they had not gone to New York to become inmates of a disreputable house.

The Italian Premier Interviewed.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—In an interview with the Rome correspondent of Figaro, Premier Crispien denounced the attitude maintained by France toward Italy. As an illustration of the unfriendly policy of France, the Italian premier instanced the annexation by that power of Tunis despite her promises to the contrary. Signor Crispien defended the French negotiations for the renewal of which were still pending, and declared that there was no danger of war unless it was sought by France. The premier regretted the necessity which existed for maintaining and increasing the enormous armaments of the European powers, which he believed could only result in the ruin of Europe and the great advancement of the United States.

Not the Bearer of a Grievance.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 29.—A. J. You, chairman of the grievance committee of Locomotive engineers, who came here Saturday from Fort Wayne, was interviewed Sunday evening, and expressed his surprise at the trouble on the Fort Wayne roads. "I am the chairman of the board of adjustment of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for the Vanderbilt lines," he said. "I came to this city on private business, and as to that dispatch, it is without foundation. In fact, the grievance committee meet annually, and one of them is now in session in this city. Only routine business is now being transacted."

Aldrich will ask Carlisle to agree to a limit of two hours for each side, the vote on the tariff bill to be taken at about 5 o'clock. The tariff bill will be taken up Tuesday. The members of the finance committee felt assured that there will be few if any Republican votes against the report. In fact the only vote which seems at all sure to be cast against it is that of Paddock.

The application, Mr. Healy said, would be based on the ground of the bias of the crown counsel. Mr. Healy then submitted that the time had arrived when it should be decided whether the trial proceeded further pending the receipt of the decision on the application.

Orders were given east and west bound freights to pass at Black Hand, but Operator Kealty at that place failed to deliver the order to the east-bound train. Later he saw his mistake and telegraphed the operator here that there would be a wreck pretty soon, and left his post. He is a mere boy. GO T VERY STRAIGHT.

An Alleged Cincinnati Hoarder Hears the Court's Verdict.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 29.—The city is excited over the alleged hoarding in the board of control, brought out by ex Councilman Mooney's suit for a share of some city council swag. A prominent member of the board of control is Louis Reemelin, and hearing that Governor Campbell had charged crookedness to the board he wrote the governor asking him, "Do you charge me with crookedness?" Answer at once.

The Governor Just Did.

To this the governor promptly telegraphed a reply, saying that he had not charged Reemelin with anything, but adding: "I believe you to be dishonest, and that you are a cheat and a swindler, every citizen of Cincinnati whom I have seen, or from whom I have heard within the last month. Whenever I have official charges to make against you or the board of public improvement in the city of Cincinnati I will submit my own time and place and my own medium of communicating the same to the public. In the meantime I demand your resignation from said board to be placed in my hands before noon Monday next."

Has Fasted 182 Days.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 29.—One hundred and eighty-two days of involuntary fasting, without a morsel of food or a drop of water, is the record thus far made by Leigh county's now famous but unfortunate invalid, Mrs. Adam Wuchter, up at Whitehall. Her condition has changed but slightly for the worse since she was taken to her present abode, and her sufferings are extreme.

At Times She is Rational, and expresses her wishes to the family in a faint whisper. Her last request to her attending physician, Dr. Seiger, is that he keep doctors and other people from coming to the sick-room and offering her food and water. Accordingly the physician has so arranged that all medical visitors and others must first apply to him and obtain a pass before they can be admitted. Dr. Seiger is of the opinion that Mrs. Wuchter may survive another month longer.

Made Him Commit Harbored.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—It is reported from Berlin on apparently good authority that the suicide of Col. Von Norman, superintendent of the military cadet school, was not a voluntary act. When Col. This decision was communicated to Von Norman, who speedily complied with its requirements.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

The Awful Deed of a Greedy Father.

ONLY A BRIDE OF A FEW HOURS.

Charles Seifert Kills His Newly Married Daughter and then Commits Suicide—Two Indians Dangerously Wounded by a Drunken Man—How Among Pennsylvania Italians, One of Which Is Seriously Wounded.

LACON, Ill., Sept. 29.—In a little cottage in this city lie the dead bodies of a father and a daughter, the latter a bride of a few hours. Last May Charles Seifert and family came to this city. The father and daughter were employed as weavers in the Lacon woolen mills. A young Englishman named Joseph Baxter was also employed in the mills and married the daughter, Mary, against the father's consent. The young man never called at the house, but managed to see the girl elsewhere, and the young people finally became engaged. Last Wednesday evening Seifert met the young couple out walking, abused Baxter, and threatened to kill both and shoot himself.

The Marriage of the Daughter.

Baxter boarded two doors from Seifert and Saturday night he and Mary were married there by a justice of the peace. Seifert when he heard of this went to the house and asked to see the marriage certificate. This being shown him he seemed satisfied with the cause of the marriage, and came to his house and got her trunk, which she did in company with Baxter. Sunday morning Seifert sent a little daughter to Baxter with the information that he wished to become reconciled with his son-in-law and would apologize to him for threats and abusive language. Baxter went over and Seifert treated him kindly, showed him where he had made a record of the marriage in the family Bible, and requested him to let Mary come home. That night he called on her and told her that he would let her come home, but that he would not let her go until she had signed a paper which he would give her. The paper was a declaration of the girl's consent to be married to him, and she signed it. Seifert, rushed over to the house and found father and daughter dead within two feet of each other. A double-barreled breach loading shotgun lay by Seifert's side, and the cause of the tragedy is said to have been Seifert's anger at being deprived of his daughter's wages.

The Regular Italian Weekly Row.

HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 29.—There are two factions of Italians in this city and surrounding country—those who belong to a secret order, and those who are opposed to it. Saturday night both factions met at a traffic and began to fight, and for a time things looked desperate. They were finally ejected from the hall and renewed the fight on the street. The non-secretary men were victorious. One of them, while on his way home on the outskirts of town, was fired upon from a ambush, and his body and limbs riddled by two charges of bird-shot. He had a miraculous escape from death.

Two Indians Shot by a Drunken Man.

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., Sept. 29.—Mark Greene, an intelligent young Indian, came from the cranberry regions near Scranton on the Green Bay railroad, Saturday morning, asking for a warrant for the arrest of a drunken man, who shot and dangerously wounded with a double-barreled shotgun Frank Mike and White Tiger, two Winnebagoes, who live at the Indian mission not far from this city. The shooting, he claims, was unprovoked.

McAuliffe and Slavin in Court.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Monday morning McAuliffe and Slavin surrendered themselves to the police and were arraigned in the Lambeth police court charged with having committed a breach of the peace. Previous to their surrender the men had learned that the authorities intended to prosecute them for fighting. The prisoners were remanded until Friday. Each man was required to furnish his personal surety in £1,000, and two bondsmen each of whom must qualify for £2,000. The sporting fraternity, who had been in agony of anticipation for months over the McAuliffe-Slavin meeting, are now in a highly disgusted frame of mind over the arrested and tameness of the men for which they had planned and risked so much and for which they paid such extravagant sums. It is claimed that McAuliffe's poor showing was due to his having been weakened by too late training in the effort to reduce his weight.

At the Whipping Post.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 29.—One lone culprit stood on a pillory for an hour in the rain and afterward hanged the post while Sheriff Allen laid on thirty lashes at Newmarket jail Saturday morning. It was Edward Denby, a negro, who had been convicted of assaulting Mrs. Margaret C. Hukill, a white woman. The sheriff put that with more than usual vigor, and no blood was drawn. Denby stood the ordeal without flinching, then he begged a chew of tobacco and went back to his cell laughing.

THE HARVEST BEGINS.

The tariff bill as it left the Conference committee has been agreed to by the House.
The vote was 152 to 81. It puts several millions more of taxes on the consumers of the country each year. All known economic measures were used by Reed and McKinley to whip in a full republican vote. They succeeded well enough to pass the bill, and now the beneficiaries will begin to collect what they do not doubt regard as rewards.
The bill was so manifestly got up in favor of the few and against the interests of the many that there were three republican Congressmen who could not be brought to vote for it. These men were Coleman of Louisiana, Kelly of Kansas, and Featherstone of Arkansas. There is no strong objection to the re-election of those three men by their constituents. They are republicans who were big enough to stand up and vote against greed. That kind of republicanism is so scarce in this Congress that he ought to be preserved whenever found.

We have heard a good deal about the McKinley bill not advancing prices. We have a newspaper in this town that says the bill will reduce the cost of articles it touches with the mysterious word of higher protection. If the merchants in town would talk out, they could soon tell another tale. It has been certain for more than a month that the tariff bill would pass, and it has been equally certain that certain articles mentioned in it would receive even more protection than they now enjoy. The manufacturers of these articles have been anticipating larger profits. Some of them have been sending out circulars to the retailers for the last month or six weeks, calling attention to the fact that there would be a rise in the price of various staple articles immediately upon the passage of the McKinley bill.

Some of these circulars have fallen into hands of men who were willing that the public should know their contents, and so they have got into the newspapers. Only a few days ago one appeared in The Chicago News that came from a large tin house in Michigan. It told the trade that there was a certain advance in that class of goods.
It gave as a reason the changed conditions under the latest tariff bill. It is pretty generally understood that similar circulars have gone to the dry goods and hardware houses.
The mails will be crowded with such messages within a week.

Now, will those who think that the Mc-Kinley bill has a cheapening effect please point us to a trade circular following it that reduces prices? Take any case you please where the duty has been raised, and then let us hear of the manufacturer in that industry who has informed the retail men who purchase of him that heretofore quotations will be lower.

And it seems that the trusts are in an alarming hurry to seize the advantage that has been given them. The very smallest amount of decency should have made them hold off until Harrison had put his name to the document. But they couldn't do this;
there was booty to divide and the fellows who have worked for it for the last two years are in a hurry to get at it.

The men whose turn comes now went to work on the situation two years ago. In the campaign of 1888 they were asked to furnish the money for that famous black-and-white game. In return they were promised higher protection by Mr. Quay. They came down with the money, and they furnished such quantities of it as never before went into a campaign fund in this country.
They have been without the use of this money for two years; and now it is their business to lose no time in collecting it from the people, and with it compound interest at the rate of 50 per cent. And you can be very sure that they will make their collections. The law says that they may have their pound of flesh, and with it they may take all the blood there is in the body.
In this case there will be no nice interpretations of the law to hold the leeches within bounds. The limit is set away up at about 50 per cent; and up to that limit they may play as they please without fear of interference from any outsider. At this game they may collect enough to recoup their outlay in the last campaign and also to form a slush sinking fund for the one that is coming.

If you have any doubts about who is really paying the bills, just note which class of persons one must stand the expense of such high prices, but don't think it is the men who hand over the money to Quay.
You will have a chance to note that they grow rich and fat at the game. And then you will please note how others get along.

A duty goes on binding twine, and we ask the farmers of this Congress district to make a note of the fact that (Capt. Jonathan H. Rowell has not even raised his voice against that duty. He was on hand to vote for the bill as it came from the Conference committee. When the bill went to that committee it had binding twine on the free list. This would never suit the eastern republicans. The trust had furnished large sums to the last campaign fund, and it had to be paid back. The Conference committee put binding twine back on the dutiable list; and Mr. McKinley in his closing speech expressed a hope that another Congress would still further increase the duty on the article. There is not much glad tidings in all that for the farmer of Macon county.

The farmers in this state have asked for a repeal of the duty that protects binding twine and makes a trust in that article possible. Their petition is denied and the hope expressed that the duty will still go higher.
Now it is the business of the farmers of Illinois to fight or shut up. And the kind of fighting that is to be done should take the form of a ballot, and one of the first men who should be marked is our own Jonathan Rowell.

What has this fellow been doing anyhow? Binding twine was an important topic of discussion in Washington for several days. Did anybody ever hear what Rowell said on the subject? If he said anything, the official recorder and newspaper man failed to catch it. Why, if all the other representatives from this state remained as silent as old Rowell, it is probable that the East river republicans never found out that there was a petition from the farmers of Illinois. Our farmers can meet and pass resolutions about what they want, and then if he didn't know there was a farmer in existence. And when it comes to a vote, our captain records himself as thinking that a duty on binding twine is about the proper thing; and there is no protest from him when the future is called on to still further increase the duty. Gentlemen, how is that for misrepresentation of this district? Will you send such a man back, or will you determine that you will have somebody who will pay some attention to your formally expressed wishes? If you are satisfied with misrepresentation and being treated with contempt, then Rowell fills the bill. In that case send him back. But farmers, if you think you amount to something in this country, it will be necessary for you to send a different style of representative to Washington. When you once state plainly what you want and your representative votes against your statement, you should at least have learned never to give to give that man another chance. And when this is the rule of action on the part of the voters, the representatives from this state will amount to more than puppets of the trust.

From all reports, Quay's dignified silence is not the fashion in Pennsylvania, not even among thousands of republicans. A few thousand of those are making equally discordant noise to sprout a Tower of Babel on every quarter section in the state. The republican who was heard from Saturday night says that Delamater is a briber and forger.

Now that the tariff bill has safely passed it is about time for Carnegie to show up with another 25 per cent reduction in workingmen's wages.

Will the mayor appoint special police for next Friday, or will he put the different candidates for sheriff under bonds to keep the peace?

CURE SICK HEADACHE

Rich Headache and relieve all the troubles that come from a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, etc. While their most valuable success has been shown in curing Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cure Headache.

As they would be most precious to those who suffer from the distressing complaint, but fortunately their goodness does not extend to the whole country, but only to those who have the bills to pay, and who are not able to do without them. But after all, sick headache is a great trouble, and one that is not easily cured.

A CRY OF ANGUISH

THE Continued and sustained advances in the price of shoe materials has caused a readjustment of values in footwear of all kinds. The goods made in New England and shipped from Boston were raised in price some time ago. From ten to fifteen cents a pair on shoes and from two to three dollars a case on boots about represents the change. In view of the continued strength of the leather market, selling at the old prices is not likely to last much longer. * * The shoe manufacturers are in a considerable dilemma. Leather may go higher; it is almost impossible for it to decline. The shoe manufacturer might take orders based on present values of leather if he could buy enough to cover himself. There are no stocks of leather available. Manufacturers refuse to guarantee the prices. As outlined in our interview with manufacturers last week many concessions formerly granted will be withdrawn.—Shoe and Leather Review, Sept. 11.

It goes up from jobbers, manufacturers, and wholesalers. The great advance in shoes as indicated in the above extract from the Shoe and Leather Review, has induced many wholesalers to withdraw their men from the road, the idea being that they can make more money by holding on to the stock and waiting for the raise in value than they can by selling now at a profit. The prices of all kinds of leather, uppers, kids and dongolas have greatly advanced, and it is inevitable that prices must advance on every kind of shoes. We feel that it is our duty to the good people of Decatur and Macon county to maintain the low prices we have made on shoes until the present stock is exhausted. We think that the liberal patronage of Macon county people for us during the last quarter century has deserved all the favor we can give them in return. We insist, however, upon the truth that the prices we are now making cannot last, that we cannot replace the goods at old figures, that higher prices must be the rule, and that after the present stock is exhausted we cannot continue to offer such bargains. To buy now is to get a bargain. Buy now if you would save money. The people have learned about the big advance in leather of all kinds and don't wait until your neighbors have exhausted the present stock. Buy now—it will pay.

WORTHY OF NOTICE!

Two Strangers Drive Away Dr. Sibley's Rig—Caught.

The daring way in which two rather well dressed men took Dr. Sibley's horse and buggy from in front of his office yesterday afternoon caused considerable excitement in police circles. Pursuit was soon begun and resulted in the capture of the men east of the city, within a few hours after the rig was taken.

Frank Sibley, a son of the doctor, happened to be looking out of the front window of the second story on Water street, about 5 o'clock. His father's gray horse was standing patiently by the curbstone. The two strangers came up, cooly untied the hitching strap, climbed in the buggy and drove rapidly away, going south on Water street. Frank was at first almost stupefied at the boldness of the proceedings. Then he called Dr. Wood to know if the rig had been loaned. Receiving answer that it had not, he dashed down the stairway to the pavement. By that time the buggy was out of sight. Running to Main street Frank saw it going at a lively rate down the hill to Haddock's. He saw a whip wave in the air a time or two, and then the horse seemed to go faster, as if being urged to the top of its gait. Frank followed at full speed, but he couldn't gain on the horse, and though he ran with all his might to Webster street, buggy, men and horse were out of sight by the time he got there.

Then he returned to the office and after a short consultation about the robbery went after Marshal Mason, whom he found at supper. The marshal left the table and at once began to collect his forces for the pursuit. First he sent for two single rips, and then got a good description from Frank Sibley of the strangers. One, he said, was tall, good looking, light complexioned, respectable apparently, but still he was not sure. The other was short, heavy set, with a black mustache and rakish hat, while on his shirt bosom was an immense limestone diamond.

The marshal put Officer Ed Leech and William Sibley in one buggy, and Officer John Williamson and Frank Sibley in the other, and they started out once, going over the county bridge and the other crossing the river above. Officer Williamson soon struck a trace of the stolen buggy. It had passed before him, going rapidly, with the same two men in it. Officer Leech didn't bear of it on the road he took and made a detour that brought him into the road that Williamson took about four miles east of the city. There was no losing the trail they were following, because all they met declared that the buggy had passed only a short time before, with the two men in it, their hats pulled down over their eyes, stumps of cigars between their teeth, and the horse going for all it was worth.

Just after the two officers had come together they met Mr. and Mrs. Sherry Johns. "Did you see a couple of horse thieves pass along this way in a stolen buggy?" asked Officer Williamson. "No," was the reply. "Didn't you see a gray horse, driven by two men," etc., pressed the officer. "Oh, those are the men you want. Well, if you hurry you will get them at the Burrows farm. They just drove up there and stopped. The look a good deal like W. C. Johns and B. Z. Taylor, but the rig they had didn't belong to them." Then the policemen saw there was a mistake somewhere, but they went on, and at the Burrows farm found the missing rig. Senator W. C. Johns was in the yard. "Hello there!" said the officers, "ate you the horse thief?" "Well I am not going to commit myself," was the reply. "I think the man you are looking for is in the house about to begin a dance." So the two officers in uniform marched straight in the house unannounced. In the parlor was a gay company of Decatur's best people, dancing a quadrille. They were somewhat startled to see two policemen enter so unceremoniously, and some came near fainting, while many leaned against the walls and chairs for support. But it was mirth suppressed, and not fright, that weakened them, and it burst into a loud laugh when the officers walked over and clasped a pair of cold, shiny handcuffs on the wrists of B. Z. Taylor. He was dumfounded for a second, and then joined in the laugh. The policemen released him, and then went out to get a cup of coffee.

The mistake was a natural one, and soon explained. Messrs Johns and Taylor could not go out to the farm with the others, and then Louis Burrows told them he would leave the Burrows gray horse and phaeton at the bank and they could get it. The Burrows rig was tied in front of the bank, and Dr. Sibley's was tied at the side. They saw it, and no other, and of course thought it was the one. Arrived at the farm Miss Belle Burrows met them at the gate, and told them of their mistake. Then the company began to wish a policeman might be sent after the rig, and was therefore greatly delighted when not one but two appeared.

Messrs. Taylor and Johns returned on the train last night with the others. They had had enough of the buggy riding for one while. The Sibley horse and phaeton is still out there. It is not expected that any one will mention their mistake to the gentlemen for several days at least, or that they will be expected to "set up" any cigars on the strength of it.

R. D. MacLean and Marie Prescott will appear at the opera house Thursday night in that great play, "Spartacus, the Gladiator." Seats go on sale to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Shanley, who live at 1250 North Calhoun street, lost one child, little Ross, with diphtheria on Sunday evening and have others sick with the same disease.

Ed Johnson, who has been at Indianapolis in the interest of the Wayne Sulkyette company, left for Peoria. After the state fair there he will go to Texas for the same firm.

The banns of the approaching marriage of Will Moran and Miss Kate Towney were published Sunday at St. Patrick's church. The wedding will take place on Oct. 22.

W. O. Jarrett has resigned his place at Ferriss & Lapham's and gone over to the Abel Carpet house. C. D. Jones, of Niantic, has taken the vacant place at Ferriss & Lapham's.

Mrs. W. L. Johnson, of Chicago, (formerly Laura Watson,) had her three months old child christened yesterday "Anna Louise" by Rev. M. M. Goodwin of St. John's church of this city.

The state fair opened yesterday at Peoria. Twenty-seven people went from Decatur to the T. H. & H. and about 90 went on the P. D. & E. This is a much larger attendance from this vicinity than the first day last year.

Hon. A. J. Hunter, of Paris, and Hon. William M. Springer, of Springfield, addressed a big democratic meeting at Taylorville Saturday night. Nearly all the democrats of Christian county were present with loads of enthusiasm.

R. W. Ferguson, as agent for the United States Mutual Accident association paid Joseph Starr the amount of his claim, $214.28 for injuries received from a fall into the cellar at the harness store. This is Mr. Starr's second claim paid by the company.

J. M. Pringle of the Drammond Tobacco works at St. Louis called on THE REVIEW force yesterday and left a good supply of Horseshoe tobacco with the boys. Mr. Pringle has been working the city of Decatur and territory tributary thereto for some time. He is a hustler and has succeeded in placing Horseshoe in almost every grocery in the city.

G. W. Drysdale and Charles Gross, both of Blue Mound, have bought the restaurant of W. A. Combs, taking possession to-morrow. Both are pleasant gentlemen and have had experience in the restaurant business. They will undoubtedly be successful. They will be valuable additions to the circle that includes the good business men of our city.

Rev. C. E. Torrey and wife will arrive in the city from Norwalk, Conn., at 9 o'clock to-night. For a few days they will be guests of W. R. Scruggs and family. The members of the Baptist church are preparing a most elaborate reception for Mr. Torrey to be given Friday night at the church. All the societies in the church, the ministers of the city, the Christian Endeavor Union and others will take part.

The principal address at the laying of the Presbyterian church corner stone will be made by Rev. Dr. Marquis, of Chicago, a former pastor of the church. The presbytery will meet at Macon on Tuesday, Oct. 7. It is expected that it will be ready to adjourn by Thursday morning, and then the preachers will all come to Decatur to witness the laying of the corner stone. If presbytery does not come in a body there will be a large part of it here.

Memorial services were held at the A. M. E. church Sunday in memory of John H. C. Hall, of Elgin, grand treasurer of the Temple and Tabernacle of Illinois, who died a short time ago. Both tabernacles in Decatur attended the services in a body. Rev. Archie Ward made an appropriate address and after that James Hollinger and his wife gave a biographical sketch of Mr. Hall's life, each giving a part.

The primary department of the Presbyterian Sunday school had harvest home exercises Sunday. The room was decorated with ripened grain, fruits and flowers. Songs and recitations appropriate to the occasion were given by the little people. Afterwards they voted to give the fruits to Rev. W. H. Penballington, and the teachers and scholars all went in a body to the parsonage with the baskets.

John Angelo's wife, three miles west of Macon, was a very rare one. It was inflammation of the tongue, which swelled to such an enormous size as to fill her whole mouth and so obstruct the throat to almost total suffocation. Sunday Dr. Wagoner was called up there to perform a surgical operation to permit air to pass into the lungs by an opening made through the upper part of the wind pipe, but before he arrived the swelling had been temporarily reduced by a hollow needle inserted by Dr. McLean, and it was hoped this would be sufficient. She was better yesterday, and hopes of recovery are good.

Recently Married.
Justice Curtis married a couple yesterday who were old hands at the business and needed no instructions as to how to act. His name was Willie D. Taylor and hers was Alice M. Robinson, both from Cerro Gordo. Their ages were respectively 43 and 34 years, and each one of them had been married twice before. No blushes were visible on their cheeks as they were for the third time linked in the holy fetters and they went away as naturally as if it were indeed an every day occurrence.

WORTHY OF NOTICE!

Two more fishermen were before Justice Hammer yesterday on warrants sworn out by Fish Warden Harkness for illegal selling. B. F. Blackly was fined $10 and costs, and the base against William F. Hartten was dismissed on his paying the costs.

Chris Robinson appeared before Justice A. C. Stevens yesterday and pleaded guilty to the charges on which he was arrested Saturday night. They were general disorderly conduct, using profane and indecent language, etc., and his fine and costs amounted in all to $21.30. He paid the entire amount.

Mrs. Benjamin F. Cleghorn was arrested yesterday and brought before Justice Stevens charged with aiding and abetting her children in disturbing private property. The case was set for trial this morning at 10 o'clock. It is claimed that her children have been annoying neighbors for some time by throwing stones at the houses, and in other ways, and as the children are too small to arrest and she has shielded them she is made liable. She lives at 250 South Franklin street.

Charles Brosech who was arrested several days ago for stealing brass off an engine was before Justice Curtis yesterday. The prosecuting attorney wanted the case continued, as the grand jury was then investigating it, but it had already been continued three times and the justice refused to do so and discharged the prisoner.

Officers Brockway, Williamson, Lawrence and Barrett raided the Thomas house on East Main street Sunday night and captured five couples including Mrs. Doug Mullins-Lane, the mistress of the house. All but one of them put up bond for their appearance for trial and that one went to jail. Yesterday A. J. Johnson, Lottie McEneaney, alias Jennie Smith, and C. C. Church forfeited their bonds to Justice Hammer. W. O. Smith and Frank Jones also forfeited to Justice Stevens.
